Mr Kemble (Electrical Shop) has kindly loaned video equipment to allow us to show the film "The Vanishing Village", as it is quite a short film more than one performance may be possible. The exhibition will be set up on the Thursday so that local schools may visit during the day. Guthlaxton School has loaned stands to set the exhibits up on.

March 17th 7.30pm White Gate Farm will be the next meeting.

Leicestershire Local History Council

Membership has been taken out and the programme of visits, lectures etc., is now available for G.W.H.S. members to attend.

Visit to All Saints, August 19th 1981

This was most interesting; Father Green gave a very concise history of the church adding many interesting anecdotes about the parish and amusing incidents connected with the church. He also very kindly allowed the Elizabethan Chalice and pattern to be inspected. Also the pewter collection plates donated over many years by the Churchwardens. A donation to the restoration funds was made as a thank you to Father Green.

Film Evening – Combined Civic Society & GWHS Venture

The films were shown to a packed audience, the first film being 'Holymoorside', made by the Historical Society of the Derbyshire village over several years. It was directed by Mr J D Goodwin, (originally of Wigston), who is the senior lecturer in Graphic Design and Film Production at Chesterfield College of Art, Mr Thompson of the Society at Holymoorside was also present.

The second film of the evening, 'The Vanishing Village' was made by Granada as an educational film to demonstrate the growth of a village, Wigston was chosen because of a wealth of documentation and items that exist.
