J. Pigott. Vicar. -

Highly respectable as the Sum here subscribed must always appear, it would have received no small Addition from the Humanity of the Dissenters, but that they were at the same time engaged in making a collection for those truly unhappy Sufferers in Germany, through whose Country the French Armies having past in their Way to Vienna, had made a general Ruin, destroying or plundering all before them. — Such Ravage was but too well authenticated, and induced many to direct their Benevolence to that Quarter; among whom were the major part of the Dissenters in this Place, whose Contribution amounting to £. 7. 5. 0 was forwarded by the Reverend Mr. Davis to Messrs Smith and Holt, Bankers in old Broad-street, London; from whom Mr. Davis received a proper Acknowledgment.

I cannot help remarking that the Sum of £7. 5. 0, mentioned above, being added to the £29. 7. 0. on the other side, would yield a Total that would set the Contributions of this Parish above that of any other in the County, except Hinkley.
