I think it is easy to see why: it was built as a coaching inn in a small way when the Welford road was laid out as a turnpike road in the late eighteenth century and one coach route, at least, followed the road from Leicester to Northampton. But it

30-015 Wigston Laundry Bull Head Street Wigston Magna.jpg	Lucas Archive	30-015 Wigston Laundry Bull Head Street Wigston Magna Wigston Laundry was opened in 1892 by Henry Walter Tharp, a Londoner, & his brother in law living in Wigston, Edward Sutton Crowe. A three quarter acre orchard with an existing brick & slate building was initially rented. The company flourished & in 1895 new buildings were added including the well remembered chimney. Further major expansion & rebuilding with the purchase of more land took place in the 1920s & 1930s. Henry Walter Tharp's son & then grandson in due course took over the management. At its peak the company employed 150/200 people. However, the

32-604 WWI Card from the Trenches.JPG	Marita Bott	32-604 WWI Card from the Trenches One hundred years ago today, on 1st September 1917, this card was sent by my Grandfather George Henry Mawby, who lived on Central Avenue, Wigston Magna, Leicestershire, to his niece Connie. ...We found it in a family photograph album many years later...The card was sent from the trenches during the First World War where my Grandfather was one of the many thousands of troops involved in the battle of Passchendaele. He was one of the lucky ones who survived what must have been a terrible ordeal...He died in 1962, aged 75 years..I have typed out below a transcript of the text in case you

34-589 Two Steeples Sign.JPG	news Paper	34-589 Two Steeples Sign How three surviving company signs tell a tale of Two Steeples....When Michael Clarke spotted an old enamel advertising sign for the Leicester company. Two Steeples, in a Norfolk curios shop, his eyes stood out like... well, two steeples...And he wasn't the only one. Reader Duncan Lucas saw Michael's photo of the sign on my page and says that he, too, had the same sign, now displayed at the Wigston Framework Knitters Museum...'Another sign is at Telford's Blists Hill Museum, Shropshire. There must have been many made and like the Two Steeples products, they were the best,' writes Duncan, of Wigston Magna.....'To work for Two Steeples meant you were at the top of the 'factories tree'. 'The Two Steeples factory hooter called employees to work. My Aunt Ella was a forelady there and my late father, Orson Lucas, was the company rep in Scotland. I am named Orson after father and Duncan after a close friend of his, Duncan Wright, an Olympic athlete and broadcaster...' The story of its owners - the Leefamily-would make a film...'The business was built up in the mid-19th century by Wigston-born Ambrose Lee, whose father was also a hosier. In 1851, Ambrose is described as a trimmer and dyer and his wife, Fanny, a

Mr Cox came from Oadby and his business was described in an 1889 directory as a potato salesman and after that date, as a greengrocer and fruiterer. Happily it remains much the same as it did a hundred

8-169a Memorial Park Long Street Wigston Magna (trees felled in 1936).jpg	Lucas Archive	8-169a Memorial Park Long Street Wigston Magna (trees felled in 1936) Memorial Park was created in 1921 and soon after a bowls club was formed and the first club house was built in 1928. The club house was modernised in the middle of the 20th century and finally replaced by the current structure in 2000. The history of this piece of land is well documented and interesting. Early in the summer of 1645 during the Royalists siege of Leicester, the towns authorities, in order to reduce food requirements, sent prisoners of

The road was laid out and 10 houses built on each side for the Society as an investment, the remaining plots being sold to members for their own housing needs. The farm house survives on Long Street/Central Avenue corner and is used as a surgery by a veterinary practice. In 1910 the prestigious building on the other Long

Robert Cecil Palmer, Wigston's naughty vicar. He was inducted into the parish in January 1902, but on Easter Day in April 1912 after conducting the usual four Sunday services, assisted by his curate, he departed on the evening train, never to be seen again. He told people he was going on holiday but it soon became clear he had taken the Easter offerings, rents from church owned property & anything else he had access to, leaving the parish nearly bankrupt. The whole village was left in a state of shock & disbelief. His wife was left with 3 children to manage, no husband, no income & no

Arriving back by post came a Turkey, (dead) I remember Dad getting it out of the box and sitting on the back step removing its feathers.(he used to hold the head up and pretend to make it talk...it scared me ! We didn't own a fridge back then but surprisingly we all survived!..After opening our presents from a filled old pillowcase the smell of Turkey filled the house. After lunch about 2pm we would don our hats,coats,scarves and gloves to walk from Glen Parva to my Aunt and Uncles house 25

George Davenport was born in Wigston, and baptised at All Saints Church on 5th November 1759. George became an apprentice to a framework knitter for a while, but this didn't suit him. It seems he mixed with what might be called undesirable friends and took part in sports and heavy drinking...He then made a considerable amount of money from fraud and robbery. One of his tricks was to get the advance money for joining the army and then to abscond. He said he had done this from 40 different regiments. However, he did serve for the Leicestershire Militia during the American War of Independence...For 18 years he was a highwayman, taking money from travellers and giving it to the poor of Wigston and Oadby. It is said that he would rob people whilst they stood drinking in an inn. One time at the Bull's Head in Belgrave he joined a

31-099 Keith Allen outside All Saints Church Wigston Magna late 1930's.JPG	Lesley Willott	31-099 Keith Allen outside All Saints Church Wigston Magna late 1930's My dad outside All Saints Church and his Aunt Edith Allen. My dad was raised by Edie and her sister Constance (Connie) Allen at 20 Moat Street. They lived there until the cottages were condemned and the council moved them to another house. Edie was presented with an award many years later for her service to children as she fostered dozens of kids over the years. She never married although was engaged to John Foryan but had to end this to look after Connie when their mother died. Connie was totally bedridden and lived upstairs at 20 Moat Street. She had a mirror positioned so she could see the street, many locals knew them and used to stop at the right position to give her a wave which she saw in the mirror. Lesley Willott Mike my dad was Keith Allen, his father was William (Bill) Allen who also lived in a cottage in Moat Street. Dad was sent to live with Connie and Edie when his mother died and he lived with them at 20 Moat Street till he joined the RAF at 18. Connie and Edith's father went to work on the railroad in South America leaving his wife and children in England. There was another son named Tom. Their father died there leaving the family impoverished and I'm not sure if that was when they moved to Moat Street. It was the end cottage next door to the shop. Connie was diagnosed with an enlarged heart at the age of 14 and was prescribed bed rest. She never left her bed again and was an invalid the rest of her life. I believe they were related by marriage to the Mawby family as Jean and Joan Mawby were regular visitors. Edie fostered dozens of children, often the ones from difficult backgrounds and I remember a few of those kids. As I said Edie given an award for her services to children. When their mother died Edie gave up work and also broke off a relationship with John Foryan according to my dad, to take on the role of full time carer to Connie. I think the fostering probably began to bring some money in as they lived in real poverty. They were very well known by many in Wigston Magna and had many visitors who spent time with Connie in the front bedroom at Moat Street. I can remember as a child sitting in front of the open fire toasting bread on a long toasting fork. Connie loved kids and we would sit on her bed being amused by her for ages. She ruled the roost from her bed with a long stick which she was very adept at

I think it could be our lot, in which case I'd love to see the others Tom. what was your aunt Edith's surname/maiden name? I might be able to work out the connection if they were related by marriage. Simon Carter I've finally done some sleuthing and I think I know who some of this family are, and how they are connected to you Tom Allen and Lesley Willott. They are relatives, but by marriage. Your father's (William Allen) mother was Edith Allen, nee Mawby - she married William Allen (senior) in 1897 - she was eldest of 7 Mawby children (Edith, Elizabeth, John, Frederick, Tom Allen, Comfort and George H) they were the children of Allen/Allan Mawby and his wife Harriet. For more than 10 years the family lived on Newton Lane next to the Spence family - Frederick Buckle Spence and his wife Elizabeth June (nee Voss). Elizabeth's widowed mother Sarah Jane also

32-517 James and Betsy Hodges with John and Martha Goodin.JPG	fb	32-517 James and Betsy Hodges with John and Martha Goodin James and Betsy Hodges with John and Martha Goodin..Below is the shop on the corner of Newton Lane and Welford Rd..... James Hodges was born c1827 the fourth child in a family of six, to parents John, a cordwainer or shoe maker, and Elizabeth nee Cooper. They lived in one of the small parish houses in Church Nook. His three elder siblings. Elizabeth, James and Hannah had all died when tiny children during March, April and May 1826, so this new child also named James, to be followed by a brother John and another sister named Hannah, must have gone some way to soften such a terrible blow for the parents. James received some education, sufficient to be able to sign his name, though in a hesitant and unformed style. He trained as a sawyer probably with the Goodin family who it is believed operated a saw mill in Northampton Street, Leicester. By the spring of 1851 James had moved from Wigston and was lodging in the home of George Bread a railway porter and his family in Stoke Prior, Nr. Bromsgrove, Worcs. Also lodging there was another young Leics. sawyer named Henry Goodin. Later the..same year on 24th August James returned to Wigston to marry Betsy Phipps at All Saints Church. Betsy was the daughter of George Phipps a tailor and paperhanger who lived in Bull Head Street near the Bank about 5 doors up from Mr. Laundon the saddler. She was one of a large family but most interesting is the fact she had a twin sister Martha. It is known they were twins because the vicar made a note in the parish register to that effect when he baptised them, suggesting perhaps that the birth of twins who both survived was unusual at the time. Martha was already married to John Goodin a brother of the Henry lodging with James in Worcs. The newly married couple returned to Stoke Prior and the following year baptised a son John there. He was to be followed 5 years later by a daughter Sarah Elizabeth who was baptised back at All Saints, though the family still lived in Worcs. It was two years later that the big adventure was to start. Dissatisfied with prospects in England James and Betsy decided to emigrate to South Africa. They left Worcester bound for Claremont on a ship named 'Bride I' in June 1859. Two year old Sarah..accompanied them but not their son John who had presumably died. They were assigned to a Mr. Bronger who would help them settle in and probably provide employment. South Africa was a very undeveloped country at this time and the British Government ran an Aided Immigration programme to encourage people with the right skills to move there and assist with modernisation. Travelling conditions would have been harsh on a crowded sailing ship with an average journey time of two months. However, the passengers fared much better than some who emigrated to other parts of the New World. Great care was taken with diet and hygiene and each ship carried its own surgeon who was paid 1l- for every immigrant landed alive! Life in South Africa suited James and Betsy for the following year they sent for her twin sister Martha and husband John Goodin. They sailed accompanied by their 11 year old son Thomas in August 1860 aboard the ship 'Royal Charlie', also bound for Claremont, where they were assigned to James Hodges confirming that he was by then recognised as a settled resident. The two families made a great success of life in South Africa, living mainly in Cape Town, then Dietermaritzburg heart. He never worked for less than 61 per day and in addition built his own wooden

34-333 George Walden of Wigston on enlistment day 1914.jpg	John Walden	34-333 George Walden of Wigston on enlistment day 1914 'george enlists': Apparently the Managing Director of Two Steeples Hosiery, Mr Edward Lee, held a patriotic recruiting campaign at the factory. The Leicester Daily Post of 31 August 1914 reported:..."Twenty five employees of "Two Steeples" including Mr Arthur Lee, son of one of the directors, left Wigston Magna this morning for Glen Parva to join the Army. The firm are supplying each man with two sets of underwear, and, besides keeping their places open for them on their return, are allowing them pocket money whilst away."... The photo was taken on the day of enlistment 1 Septemebr 1914. It is believed that all the men were employees of Two Steeples Hosiery and this might have been termed a 'pals battalion'. Names mentioned were George Walden (seated centre), Sgt William
